Note:
 This map shows the statewide distribution of funding by county for state services in California compared with the income tax levels within each county. For the purposes of this map, state services include prison, parole, mental health, medical aid, K-12 education, in-home supportive services, and separate state programs.

California counties were ranked in each of these state service categories based on the amount of funding they received in 2007-2008. The analysis shows that counties with higher income tax levels received significantly less state service funding than counties with lower income tax levels.
